DEMOCRATIC DECLARATION. They Give Their Reasons for Fighting

Reed's Rules. Washington, February 4th .- An address to the country, explaining the position of the Democratic members of the House, has een prepared by ex-Speaker Carlisle. The address says in part:

Although nearly two months have elapsed since the Committee on Rules has been appointed, it has made no report except a partial one, made on the 9th of December, and, consequently, the House has been compelled to conduct its business without any rule or system, except general parliamentary law, as construed by the Speaker. The American House of Representatives has been during all this time, and still is, so far as rules for its government are concerned, in precisely the same position as a popular meeting or political convention in which the Chairman and his partisans absolutely control all of the proceedings.

No measure can get before the House for consideration unless the Speaker chooses to allow it to be presented, and the members have no means of knowing in advance what they are to be called upon to discuss or decide. This is the first time in our history that a legislative assembly, or even a public meeting has attempted to transact business for any considerable period without a regular code of rules prescribing the order of proceedings, and the inconvenience and injustice resulting from such an attempt has been forcibly illustrated in the present intance.

WITH A PROTEST.

This personal and partisan domination of the House was submitted to, though not without repeated protest, until we became convinced that it was the deliberate purpose of the Speaker and his supporters to proceed without rules to bust the Democratic members whose seats are contested and admit their Republican opponents.

On January 29th the Committee on Elections called up a contested election case, and the Democratic members determined that in the absence of rules it should not be considered if they could prevent it by any proper parliamentary proceedings. Accordingly they raised the question, whose consideration demanded the ayes and noes, and on the call of the roll retrained from voting. The result was that less than a constitutional quorum voted; but the Speaker, in violation of the uniform practice of the House for more than a century, proceeded to count members who were present, but not voting, and declared that the House decided to take the case up. From this decision an appeal was taken, and on a motion to lay the appeal on the table the ayes and noes were taken, and less than a quorum voted; but the Speaker again counted the members not voting, and decided that the motion had been agreed to and his ruling thereby sustained.

PROVISIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION. On January 29th the Committee on Elections

PROVISIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION. PROVISIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The Constitution of the United States provides that a majority of each House shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each House shall provide. Another clause of the Constitution requires each House to keep a journal of its proceedings, and provides that when one-fifth of the members present desire it, the aves and noes shall be taken vides that when one-fith of the members present desire it, the ayes and noes shall be taken on any question and entered on the journal.

Since the beginning of the Government under the Constitution, more than one hundred years ago, the House of Representatives and the Senate have uniformly construed the this clause. Senate have uniformly construed the first clause of the Constitution quoted above to mean that a majority of all the members elect must be present and actually participate in the transaction of business, and that whenever, upon the call of the ayes and noes, it appeared from the journal, which is the only official record, that less than a constitutional quorum had voted on any proposition, the vote was anullity, and that no further business could be done until the requisite number appeared and voted.

In order to secure certainty and stability in quisite number appeared and voted.

In order to secure certainty and stability in the administration of the law it is a rule in our jurisprudence that when a particular construction of the Constitution or a statute has been for a long time acquiesced in, not only by those whose duty it is to execute it but also by those whose personal and property rights are affected by it, the Courts will recognize it as the true construction.

THE PRACTICAL CONSTRUCTION.

Even if this were an original question it would not be difficult to show that the practical construction of the Constitution, which has prevailed in the House and the Senate for over 100 years, is the correct one. Speaker Reed him self, when in the minority on the floor of the House, stated the true meaning and the true philosophy of the Constitution when he said:

"The Constitutional idea of a quorum is not the presence of a majority of all the members of the House, but a majority of the members present and participating in the business of the ent and participating in the business of the House. It is not their visible presence, but their judgment and votes that the Constitution calls

General Garfield, Mr. Blaine, Mr. Conger. Mr. CONSIDERED AS A DUTY.

When, therefore, the present Speaker repudiated the settled construction of the Constitution we considered it our duty as a part of the representation. we considered it our duty as a part of the representatives of the people to enter our protests in every form available to us under the circumstances. We are not contending for the right of the minority to govera, as the supporters of the Speaker have endeavored to make the country believe. On the contrary, we are denying the right of the majority to eject members from their seats or to pass laws for the government of the people when, under the Constitution, a majority of the members of the House must constitute a quorum to do business, and we are simply insisting that less than a majority shall not do business. We are contending that a majority shall take the responsibility which properly belongs to them, and shall come into the House and vote if they desire to control the proceedings and mean event means the testing against the forces of the control of the proceedings and means the testing against the forces of the control of the proceedings and means the testing against the control of the proceedings and means the testing against the forces of the control of the proceedings and means the testing against the control of the proceedings and means the testing against the control of the proceedings and means t se and vote if they desire to control the prolings, and we are protesting against thei

House and vote if they desire to control the proceedings, and we are protesting against their right to carry their measures by counting us when we do not vote.

The claim of the majority that they have the right to govern the House without attending its sessions and taking part in the conduct of its business is too preposterous to require refutation. It must be evident to anyone who understands the proposition taken by the Democratic minority in the House that it cannot possibly result in any injury to the country or in any injustice to the minority. Its only effect will be to compel the Republican majority elected by the people to assume the responsibility imposed upon them.

On the other hand, no one can foresee the evils that may result from the inauguration of a practice of counting votes not cast in order to make a quorum. Under it a minority of the members-elect to the House and Senate may pass the most tyrannical laws for the oppression of the people and the most corrupt laws for the spoliation of the public treasury. Whether so intended or not, its direct tendency is to break down the barriers heretofore existing for the protection of the citizens against the encroachments of power and the spoliation of the treasury by destroying the limitations which the Constitution has wisely imposed upon the legislative department. Constitutions are made to restrain majorities and protect minorities. A majority ruling without limitations or restrain upon its power is pure despotism, and is inconsistent with our system of Government.

recovers from the shock. The funeral services will take place at 11 A. M. to-morrow, and will be strictly private. Only members of the family and immediate personal friends and the President and Cabinet and their families are to be present.

This afternoon the Secretary and his son went to the White House, where he will remain until fully recovered.

THE FUNERAL OF THE MAID. The funeral of Josephine, the French maid, took place this afternoon. Mrs. Har-rison caused inquiries to be made with regard to her, and when she ascertained that the maid had no relatives in this country, she directed Lieutenant Mason to make arrangements for the funeral. The interment was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

THEORIES AS TO THE ORIGIN OF THE FIRE. The authorities here are still investigating the origin of the fire. Chief Engineer Parrish, who saved the Secretary, gives this version:

"My theory is that the fire started in the "My theory is that the fire started in the front parlor of the main floor. Instead of the walls and ceiling being plaster, they were of wood work, oiled and varnished, and as soon as the flames took hold they spread almost instantaneously all through the building. The house was a regular tinder-box. I mean that the main floor and staircase being varnished, the fire ran right put the stairway to the roof and out. and starcase being varnished, the fire ran right up the stairway to the roof and cut off all communication. While I could not get up the main staircase, I found the back stairs free from fire, though the smoke was dense and suffocating. Why the family did not try to come down the back stairs I cannot tell, but I suppose they were either panic-stricken or else could not find the back stairs owing to the dense smoke. I have been in business over thirty years and I never saw a fire burn as fast as that did this morning, and I never knew myself to become so exhausted before from smoke and heat. The latter was terrific. The fire undoubtedly began in the front parlor and ran up the main stairway; and this seems to explain why the servants, who say they were in the basement and ment say they were in the basement and pantry, knew nothing of it until too late. Many people say that they can't understand how people could be burned so quickly in a private residence. When they finish their houses in wood, covered with oil and varnish, instead of plastering, they must understand that they are living, they must understand that they are living al-most in a powder magazine, and that once ignited the flames will spread all over a house of that character with frightful rapidity. And let me say right here that if we had not had to save people, if they had been out of the house, the fire would have been confined, and never would have reached Judge Cox's residence, next door; but we did our best to save life and we succeeded in the case of the Secretary." SOLICITUDE OF THE QUEEN. The following cablegram was received to-night by the British Minister, who at once forwarded it to Secretary Tracy:

To the British Minister: The Queen deeply deplores the calamity to Mr. Tracy's family. She inquires after him and the survivors.

Ponsoney. To which Secretary Tracy responded as

Mr. Tracy begs the British Minister to convey to her Majesty his sincere thanks for her gra-cious message of sympathy, and in reply to her kind inquiry to say that his surviving daughter and grandchild are out of danger.

New York, February 4th.—The sad events of the last few days at Washington dimmed considerably the celebration of the centennial of the Federal Judiciary, inaugurated this morning. The attendance at the exercises in the Metropolitan Opera House was the most noted that ever filled the magnificent building. Distributed about the galleries were banners and shields bearing coats-of-arms of various States.

The interior of the building was otherwise elaborately decorated.

On the right of the stage in the front row were seated the members of the United States Supreme Court. Ex-President Grover Cleveland presided. The others seated on the stage included ex-Justice William Strong, Senator Evarts, T. J. Semmes, of New Orleans, General William T. Sherman, Chauncey M. Depew and David Dudley Field, while a distinguished gathering were leaving their carriages at the door and filling the seats until there was standing room

The grand symphony orchestra played the Coronation march, the overture to "Zampa," and an American fantasie.
When the last air had been played exPresident Cleveland stepped forward. He was cheered to the echo, and some minutes elapsed before he could speak. He bowed his acknowledgements and expressed his appreciation of the generous welcome accorded him. On taking the chair the ex-President de-livered a brief introductory address, in which, among other things, he said: "In the work of creating our nation the elements of free government were supplied by the concessions of the sovereign states, by the surrender of accustomed rights and by the inspiration of pure and disinterested had not been evolved that feature in our federal system which is our theme to-day, the structure might have been fair to look

Justice Field said, in substance : "In every age and with every people there have been celebrations for triumphs in war, for battles won on land and on sea, and for the triumphs of peace, but never until now has there been in any country a celebration like this, to commemorate the establishment of this, to commemorate the establishment of a judicial tribunal as a co-ordinate and permanent branch of its government. This celebration had its inspiration in the pro-found reverence for the Constitution of the United States as the sure and only means of preserving the Union, with its inestima-ble blessings, and in the conviction that this tribunal has materially contributed to

"Experience has shown that in a country of great territorial extent and various interests, peace and lasting prosperity can exist with a civilized people only when local affairs are controled by local authorities; and at the same time there are lodged in the general government of the such sovereign power as will enable it to regulate the intercourse of its people with foreign nations and between communities. to protect them in their rights in such in-tercourse, to defend the country against invasion and domestic violence, and to maintain the supremacy of the laws throughout its whole domain. This principle the framers of the Constitution acted upon in establishing the Government of the Union by leaving unimpaired the power of the States to control all matters of local interest and creating a new Government of sovereign powers for matters of general and national concern. "They thus succeeded in reconciling local elf-government or home rule as it is termed, with the exercise of national sov ereignty for national purposes. Under this dual government each State may pursue the policy best suited to its people and resources, though unlike that of another

"And now, with its history in the century past, what is needed that the Supreme Court of the United States should sustain its character and be as useful in the century to come? DENVER, February 4th.—Judge Phillips of the United States Court for the Western district of Missouri has handed down an opinion in the case of George H. Gould against Head, Lawrence, Wam and others denying Gould's petition on demurrer in the case of the Phenix Farm and Ranch

Company.

This opinion is a confirmation of the former decision of the court favorable to the defendants, growing out of a controversy between themselves and the American cattle trust. Gould is a prominent citizen of Los Angeles, California, and a brother of C. W. Gould, Chairman of the American Cattle Trust in New York. The property in controversy is in Moro county. New Mexico, and is valued at in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Destitution in Dakota

CHICAGO, February 4th.—The Board of Trade Directors to-day appointed a committee of three to canvass for subscriptions to be used for the destitute farmers of South Dakota. This action was taken on receipt of a communication from Governor Mellette saying that in nineteen counties such relief was badly needed. The State cannot appropriate money or levy taxes for the purpose owing to constitutional objec-tions. The Governor is endeavoring to raise a fund of $50,000, and believes it will be the means of retaining 1,000 families in South Dakota who would otherwise be compelled to leave the State.

Farmers' Alliance. TOPEKA, February 4th .- The Farmers Alliance of Kansas, numbering 150,000 voters, are sending immense petitions to the Governor urging him to call an extra session of the Legislature to pass a bill extending the time for the redemption of lands sold under foreclosure to two years, and to provide for a stay of execution of judgments on promissory notes and mort-gage bonds for a reasonable time without Canadian Boundary Line.

OTTAWA (Ont.). February 4th .- In the House of Commons, in reply to a question, Dewney, Minister of the Interior, said that no difficulty had arisen or was likely to arise in regard to the boundary line be-tween Canada and Alaska, according to the definition of the boundary made in 1825 at the treaty of St. Petersburg. There was as yet no great need for a perfectly defined line, except in one or two slight cases. The Canadian Government had made arrangements for a survey. The Government wished to collaborate with the United States, but so far the latter had shown no

"If this is not done," the Czar of Russia. "If this is not done," he said, "Russia will one day seize the Danubian provinces and others, and be triumphant in Northern Europe. A Franco-German alliance can only be effected by the patriotic, magnanimous and statesmanlike policy of conciliation on the part of Germany, which shall include the restoration to France of Alsace and Lorraine."

Another Conspiracy. Dublin, February 4th .- The Express publishes a number of documents showing that there is a secret organization or league to promote a conspiracy against Smith Barry, the President of the Landlords' Syn-Barry, the President of the Landlords' Syndicate, and other landlords. The documents ask the Irish people to brand as traitors and boycott all persons dealing with emergency agents, whose addresses are given. They also show that a Vigilance Committee has been appointed in every parish to obstruct the sale of cattle that have been cared for by emergency men on farms, the tenants of which have been eyicted.

Sims looks deserted, and the few people who stop at the hotel there say the place has seemed very lonesome since the blockaded train, with Colonel Crocker on board, pulled out of the place. During the time the train laid there the hotel-keeper made quite a snug sum, and now the few who stop at the hotel seem to delight in sitting around the large fireplace telling stories and incidents in connection with the blockaded train.

POPULARITY OF MR. CROCKER. In this slide five large pine trees have fallen across the track and it will take considerable time to remove them. In places along the track the water has rushed across with such force that the gravel and dirt have been washed from around the ties, and these will have to be tamped again to make the passage over the rails safe.

BUILDINGS CRUSHED WITH SNOW. The roof of the Anderson lumber mill, five miles south of Dunsmuir, has caved in from the weight of snow on its roof, and the machinery has been damaged. A WELL POSTED OFFICIAL. Mr. Creelman has all the slides and washouts on the division at his fingers' ends, and is constantly receiving reports from the stations north and south of here. He says that if the weather was good men could be brought up and set to work along the whole line of road, but as long as the rain continues slides and washouts are bound to occur all the time and the men cannot work to advantage.

Rain ceased falling early this morning and none fell during the day until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when there was a slight sprinkle.

SNOW MELTING RAPIDLY. The snow is melting rapidly and the river will probably remain at a stand-still for some time, even though no more rain

From information obtained at the rail-Assistant General Superintendent Pratt of the Southern Pacific Company was at Gatelle, forty miles north of here, and pushing on north as fast as possible.

LIST OF OBSTRUCTIONS. Following is a complete list of obstructions to the track on the Shasta division, as obtained by your correspondent from Mr. Creelman, the train dispatcher: Commencing at the south end of the division there is a washout of thirty feet of track six miles north of Copley; a slide at Tunnel No. 2, three-quarters of a mile north of Kennet; a large slide at Shotgun creekhalf a mile south of Delta; immense slide at Tunnel No. 9, twenty feet wide, and covering the track to a depth of thirty feet; several small slides between Gibson and mite toward its purchase and preservation. sims, cutting off the work-train working | Sacramento City should well consider that north to get to the latter place; five slides between Sims and Dunsmuir, one of which will take fifty men twentyone of which will take fifty men twenty-four hours to remove; numerous slides feature, and bring the tourist and sight-seer between Dunsmuir and Mott, which will require the services of thirty men a week

A slide at Cantara knocked three cars over on the river bank, and if the stream rises three feet more they will float away. There is nothing between Mott and Ager stations of consequence, except that the first bridge south of the latter place is in be said that Sacramento City, the capital of danger of giving away. VICINITY OF HORNBROOK. The water has washed out every track but one in the south end of the Hornbrook yard, including 200 feet of the main track. There is a large slide between Hornbrook and Coles, and two fills are also in bad condition on account of the banks sliding in.

Nearly all the cuts on the Siskiyou mountains are filled with slides. The half mile of track between Siskiyou and Steinman is covered by slides, ranging from 150 to 200 feet in width and from 50 to 150 feet in depth, in the center of the track. Between the same points several fills have sunk from three to six feet on account of the banks being washed out, and snow several feet deep is on the track.

IMMENSE LANDSLIDES. North of S einman there are two slides, in all 650 feet wide and from five to seven feet deep. The north end of Tunnel No. For Sere Eyes, Flesh Wounds, Burns, 16, north of Steinman, is somewhat dam- Piles, Felons, it is magical. 25 cts. aged. Several culverts and fills between

These are all the slides and washouts that were reported to-day, though more have occurred since.

The railroad people here have been endeavoring in all possible ways to get the road open, and before long they will have men strung along the entire line working COL. CROCKER AND THE DRUMMER to keep the track clear. Endeavors were made to get engines from the Oregon and California line, but there was plenty of work on that road and locomotives could not be spared.

Between Ashland and Grant's Pass the road is badly washed out, and from there on to Portland the track is in bad condition from slides and washouts.

COUNTY BUSINESS.

The Board of Supervisors Dispose of Various Matters. The Board of Supervisors met again yesterday, all the members being present. The petition of citizens residing in the vicinity of Brighton Crossing for the repair of the bridge near that place, was referred to Supervisor Greer for investigation. Constable Phillips, of Galt, presented a bill of $139 40, mileage and expenses incurred in making two trips to San Francisco after the embezzler, John Doherty. The mileage item called for twenty cents a mile each way. The Board thought that this ought to include the officer's hotel expenses. The District Attorney is to be called upon for an opinion on the subject. At the afternoon session, bids for supply ing the commissary department of the County Hospital with the regular scheduled groceries for the next three months

Robert T. Devlin, to whom the petition of Hale & Bauman, of the Indian Diggings purchasing a half-dozen chickens. One of these they offered to Mr. Crocker, but he against them raised, was referred, appeared before the Board and reported. He also spoke for attorney Oatman, with whom he was associated in the matter as attorney for the Supervisors. The mining people he said, had set forth that in the prosecu-tion of their industry they would and did in no way harm the Cosumnes river. As to the truth of this the attorneys were not able to enlighten the Board. But if such were the case they could see no reason why the Board should not accede to the reques of the parties. At any rate, it would be Between Sims and Dunsmuir there are son to the mine, with the view of investigating and subsequently reporting to the Board.

Supervisor Ross considered that the advice of the attorneys was sensible, and he would favor sending some one as suggested.

Mr. Bates did not believe in spending ny more money in the matter.

Mr. Greer said that if it were true that the mining in no way harmed the river he would favor raising the injunction which now prevented the mining people from op-erating. But he would not vote to relieve erating, But he would not vote to relieve them of the injunction until he was thor-oughly convinced that the river would not The matter was finally laid over for furher consideration.

A communication was received from Alexander Brown, a merchant of Walnut Grove, in which permission was asked to build a wharf into the Sacramento river at a point three quarters of a mile below the head of Grand Island. The Board felt disposed to grant the request, but as the mat-ter was in the nature of a franchise, and covered by an ordinance, it was decided to refer the matter to the District Attorney, who will in turn notify Mr. Brown of the proper course to proceed.

The petition of a destitute widow to be relieved of the paying of $20 taxes on her little farm several miles out of town was next considered. A neighbor of the widdow appeared before the Board and stated that the lady was penniless, and if compelled to pay her taxes her home would have to be sold by the Sheriff. The Board was considerably perplexed as to what to do in the matter. The law prevented them from relieving the woman Under Sheriff Coons, who was present was called upon for his opinion, said there was no legal way out of the mat ter. "But, I'll tell you what can be done, continued Mr. Coons, diving down into hi pocket, "there are twenty of us here, and I've got a dollar." With that he dropped a dollar into his hat and then passed the hat around the room. In less time that itakes to tell it, the $20 was collected and the widow's taxes were paid. The Board made the formal announcement, however that it would draw the line of generosit with this case, and will not give another such sample of their magnanimity.

A communication was also received from David Quaid, a laborer, who, while working in a gravel pit near Sutter's Fort in No Overseer Judge, had his toot injured by a cave. Quaid stated that, by reason of the accident, he had lost twenty-two days' embill of $3. The total amount he was out was $47, and he desired that the Board would reimburse him to that amount. This was also referred to the District Attorney. Quite a debate arose over the request o Road Overseer Plummer for permission to use some lumber which belonged to Overeer Brown's district on the Jackson road Supervisors Ross and Bates argued that as the lumber belonged to the county, any Road Overseer who needed it might take it without accounting to the district from which it was taken. Supervisors Tebbets and Greer, however contended that Plummer should pay a reasonable amount into Brown's fund for the lumber, as the latter had to draw upon the money allotted to him in order to get the lumber in the first place. They did not be taxed for material used by another district. Mr. Black agreed with Messrs. Greer road office here to-day it was learned that and Tebbets, and the three, being a mathe effect that if any Overseer wanted maternal from another he would have to pay within our gates. What have we left here to-day, outside of the Crocker Art Gallery (and China slough and our public streets), worth looking at or calling to a stranger's attention? In the face of these facts we should make this noble effort to add one more attraction to our city of homes. The outside world is coming to our assistance. Chicago has signified her willingness to help, and others will follow, but let it not and within her own confines, but that the outside world had to do it. J. G. MARTINE.

SHERIFF'S FEES.

Amounts Collected From the State Must be Paid to the County. Judge Spencer, of the Santa Clara Superior Court, has rendered a decision that interests the Sheriffs of the various counties. It was in the suit of Santa Clara county against Jonathan Sweigert, the Sheriff, to recover $1,110, which he had PEARL - OF - PEKIN collected from the State for taking prisoners to the Penitentiary and insane persons Mr. Louis Harrison to the State asylums.

When the county brought suit for the amount the Sheriff demurred on the ground that no cause of action had been averred, Act: also, that if he had no right to convert the money to his own use, the suit should be against the State. In his opinion Judge Spencer takes the ground that the money should be collected from the State by the Sheriff and turned over to the County Treasury. This practically ends the case. PEARS' Soap secures a beautiful complex-

Hon. George Hearst, United States Senator, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: Your letter of January 13th reached me at this place to day, having been delayed in the blockade. Speaking for the Board of Trade, and the citizens of Sacramento, I can assure you that we appreciate the kindly interest you are taking in the matter of our public building, and note with very much interest what you say as to location and other matters connected therewith. Thinking your letter of public interest, I have taken the liberty of handing it to one of our newspapers at Sacramento, requesting its publication.

Touching the matter of the Sacramento river improvement, you have already been advised of the action of the Convention, which was called by our Board of Trade, and which met in Sacramento, January 17th. It was unanimously resolved that an appropriation of not less than $3,000,000 should, if possible, be secured for the general Improvement of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries. An Executive Committee, of which Dr. G. M. Dixon, of Sacramento. was Chairman, was appointed, and that committee has prepared and sent forward to you and the other representatives, a memorial setting forth many facts of importance in connection with the proposed work. I may say in addition that it was the general opinion of the Convention that the bill to be introduced in Congress should not specify methods or plans of work, but that a commission, composed mainly of men from California, should be appointed, and the appropriation and plan of work left with the commission entirely.

There was a large house at the Metro politan Theater last night on the occasion o enefit of the improvement fund of St. Paul's Church. Miss Couthoui is a good reader, and better in the humorous than the pathetic. As a mimic she is very su perior. Her versatility is great-for instance, she gave in rapid succession five clearly distinct and admirable imitations o amateur reading, that have not been better one by accomplished low comedians Again, in "Christmas at the Quarters," she passed from graphic description to the prayer of the plantation preacher, to the cotillion calling of the "fiddler"—accompanying herself on the violin-and then to he banjo solo and song of a "field hand," with the most amusing effect, and a re-markable close approach to reality. She has a resonant, almost masculine voice perfect self-possession, and a strikingly expressive countenance, and possesses th power of facial molding in a high degree Mr. Seward made a good impression as a tenor singer, and has a clear and expressive tenor. One has to listen to him closely to fully appreciate the wit that plays all through his lines, most of which are his own, and change with the temperature of the weather. He Says San Francisco Has Entirely Too Many Murders.

San Francisco, February 4th.—The preliminary examination of Naughton was postponed in Judga Lawler's Court this morning until next Thursday. After he came down from Court he was visited by a reporter in his cell in the tanks. He refused to make any statement other than to reiterate that he had acted in self-defense. His relicence to-day is due probably to the Sheriff Hensley returned to-day from the relicence to-day is due probably to the Sheriff Hensley returned to-day from the call form the California River Improvement to inherit the large estate.

This was an unexpected move, but it sufficed and placed the two objectors under arrest, and in an hour arrived and placed the two objectors under arrest, and the autopsy was proceded with.

The doctors reported no evidence of corrosive poison—but could not say as to slow poison—but could not say as to slow poison without an analysis, which was not ordered. The jury returned a verdict of death by natural causes.

This leaves an open field for the brother to inherit the large estate.

Indorsed and Prescribed by Leading Physicians:

Read the following testimonial from one o San Francisco's most eminent physicians, DR

SAN FRANCISCO, August 1, 1889.
I prescribed C. C. Liniment, half a drachm to eight ounces of warm water, to be used as a douche twice a day for "Nasal Catarth" of twenty years' standing, with the most satisfactory results.
